TWEX Platform User Guide

Introduction

TWEX is a revolutionary private investments platform – exchange. TWEX  Tokens are non-inflationary and based on real world economies.

"We Embrace Regulations Worldwide and are the Future of Crypto assets Trading and Block chain"

TWEX has created a unique new revolutionary system that enables companies and tokens to comply with existing and new coming regulations in the World of Crypto's.

We at TWEX have developed our new product the Tokenized Preferred Share (TPS) that enables companies doing an ICO's to satisfy on coming regulations and still be able to continue to trade if and when their token has ceased to exist.

Tag World Exchange (TWEX) is a crowd-lending platform that enables investors to invest their funds through smart contracts. The TWEX Platform addresses the main issues of the current crypto-currency investment vehicles, such as lack of diversification, non-compliance with existing and foreseen regulation and lack of standardization.

The platform solves these issues by the introduction of the Tokenized Preferred Shares (TPS). TPS are issued by all companies registered on the Exchange including TWEX and gives certain payment rights to owner. They can also be independently traded on the Exchange.

AML (Anti Money Laundering Policy) Screen

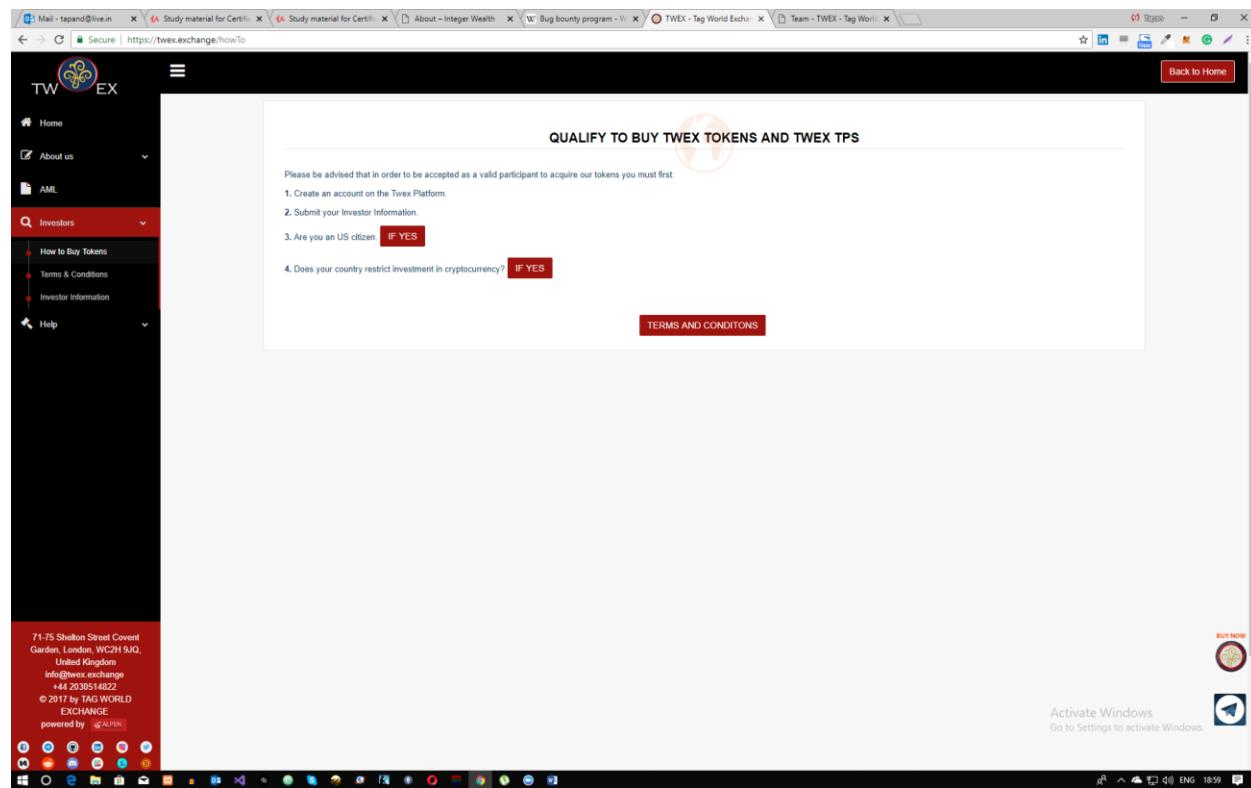

It is the policy of the firm to prohibit and actively prevent money laundering and any activity that facilitates money laundering or the funding of terrorist or criminal activities by complying with all applicable requirements under the Bank Secrecy Act (BSA) and its implementing regulations.

Money laundering is generally defined as engaging in acts designed to conceal or disguise the true origins of criminally derived proceeds so that the proceeds appear to have derived from legitimate origins or constitute legitimate assets. Generally, money laundering occurs in three stages. Cash first enters the financial system at the "placement" stage, where the cash generated from criminal activities is converted into monetary instruments, such as money orders or traveler's checks, or deposited into accounts at financial institutions. At the "layering" stage, the funds are transferred or moved into other accounts or other financial institutions to further separate the money from its criminal origin. At the "integration" stage, the funds are reintroduced into the economy and used to purchase legitimate assets or to fund other criminal activities or legitimate businesses.

Terrorist financing may not involve the proceeds of criminal conduct, but rather an attempt to conceal either the origin of the funds or their intended use, which could be for criminal purposes. Legitimate sources of funds are a key difference between terrorist financiers and traditional criminal organizations. In addition to charitable donations, legitimate sources include foreign government sponsors, business ownership and personal employment. Although the motivation differs between traditional money launderers and terrorist financiers, the actual methods used to fund terrorist operations can be the same as or similar to methods used by other criminals to launder funds. Funding for terrorist attacks does not always require large sums of money and the associated transactions may not be complex.

Our AML policies, procedures and internal controls are designed to ensure compliance with all applicable BSA regulations and FCA rules and will be reviewed and updated on a regular basis to ensure appropriate policies, procedures and internal controls are in place to account for both changes in regulations and changes in our business.

What We Can Do For You

Then you have to market your ICO. We can help you to do so but there are additional costs to that.

TPS or Tokenized Preferred Share

You must have seen all of these articles in Coin Telegraph, Coin base and the likes about the SEC's push to regulate ICOs and classify all of them as security tokens.

Premises

No matter how big you are or even how rich you are, doing an IPO is very costly – only for compliance you must spend at least 250,000 USD per year with at least one full time employee devoted to that task. This does not take into consideration all other factors pertaining to the size of your company and to the recorded sales accompanied by insured audits made by a select few group of auditors that will charge you a lot for their services. These tenuous requirements that came into force after 9/11, Enron and all the other ensuing scandals leading to the 2008 collapse were designed to protect investors' funds so that never again the same things could happen!.

Then came the introduction of ICOS. A techie has an idea but no money to do it. He writes a White paper (condensed version of a prospectus almost without risk factors), prepare a nice funky website and group some friends and family to raise between 200 to 500,000 Dollars and then start a marketing campaign where he asks various categories of people to invest in the next 'Bitcoin'! He promises to use their money and do some wonderful technical feat that needs consensus and that is decentralized and based on the blockchain (the magic words). In other words: give me your money and then in one to two years' time.

If all goes well I will perform! Believe in me... Many of them raised Millions upon millions of Dollars from investors who did not want to miss out on the next 'Bitcoin' and invested small amounts of money just to see. Once the funds were raised they suddenly realized that they did not owe anything to anybody as the funds were paid in ETH and BTC to private and anonymous crypto accounts. Many of them decided to move to the Bahamas and to Rio...

In comes the SEC and rightly so, wanting to regulate and protect investors who are being taken to the cleaners. Said investors cannot even come together and file a class action lawsuit as more often than not the defrauders have disappeared in a cloud of anonymity and secrecy never to be found or heard of again.

For the SEC, this new state of affairs is bad as they do not know from what end to approach the entire situation not comprehending at all Blockchain, crypto, etc. The only way left to do their job protecting the American investors is to regulate and stop the savage ICOS taking place in the hundreds every day the World over. The easiest way to regulate is to classify all ICOS as security tokens: do you have a market value? (YES) Can the value appreciate and or fluctuate? (YES) Then you are a security token as people can make profits while trading your token.

This simple approach alleviates a series of problems for the SEC ranging from how to regulate, what to regulate, what is and what is not a security or utility token.

Classify all ICOS as securities, obligate KYC, AML and risk disclosures, and force sale to accredited investors only and voila: you have a new class of security that when traded and having generated capital gains will be taxed at 30 %! Quite the perfect outcome: no more manpower required, business as usual, protection of investors and tax collection!

Now when such rules are in place most of the Exchanges as they exist presently will cease to exist as they will not be allowed to trade securities unless they are licensed to trade securities and to act as an Exchange! Needless to say many will not qualify and investors the world over will have problems converting their coins in cash! A series of lawsuits can be expected for these investors who will lose money this way and not be able to sell their coins.

Most of the companies having run an ICO will have to reclassify as securities and take all actions as if they were publicly listed and 90 % of them will fail. There will no longer be any more ICOS for a majority of these companies.

Many of them upon listening to that for some and as a principle against US Federal Laws for others will tell you that there is a simple solution: restrict the ICO and refuse to sell to Americans. By the way they are already restricted to sell to Chinese, Japanese, South Koreans, and Singaporeans (all of which are big crypto markets).

What do you think the FCA is going to do when they hear about the SEC'S new set of rules? What do you think the ECB, BAFIN, etc. will do? All of them will follow suit as these new set of rules are simple to follow and to implement as it is business as usual and makes sense for them.

Then when all these Jurisdictions start following suit and enforcing the same type of rules where are you going to sell? Only Africa, South and Central America and Mongolia will be left... So in other words all of these people are going to fight for what little money that can be raised in these countries!

Needless to say that the success rate of ICOs will be even lower

We at TWEX have created a new revolutionary way to tackle all these coming problems: Do your ICO as usual for now, but use our services immediately to prepare for the future!

In order to do so we ask of you to issue a Preferred Share by your company that will be backed by your corporate assets and hold a prime rank in case of bankruptcy. These Preferred Shares are going to be tokenized by us and linked to your Token in order to hold the same value. The TPS (Tokenized Preferred Share) will be exchangeable one for one and cannot exceed the total number of tokens issued. The day regulations come in internationally and you can no longer trade your tokens, you convert to TPS and continue.

Can anybody forbid you from borrowing money? The only limitation you have is whether the lender accepts your collateral and is satisfied by your capacity to service the debt. Can any government, even a communist one, forbid you from borrowing money? No – it is purely between you and your lender. These are the premises of the TPS referencing regulations and others.

A direct one to one correlation of price and indexation of value, with the sole difference that, the Token is sold with the TPS. The TPS will hold all the monetary rights while the Token can be the true utility token it was supposed to be or purported to be!
